Conference App
The app gives you online and offline access to the programme, abstracts, maps, uploaded papers, exhibitor information and more useful information. You can also create a personal conference agenda (NB: this is distinct from “My Agenda” on ConfTool).

To use the app:
1. Find and install the free Conference4Me app on your device’s app store.
2. Open the Conference4Me app and search for UACES 2019.

Paper Abstracts
To view abstracts for the papers, browse the app or the agenda on conftool.org/uaces2019.

Full Papers
Some paper-givers have chosen to make their full paper available for delegates to read and provide feedback on. To view available papers, visit conftool.org/uaces2019 or browse the app.

Errata / Programme Changes
Due to last minute cancellations and necessary adjustments, changes may have been made since the printing of this programme. Please consult the errata (provided in your conference pack) for any changes.
You can also view the latest up-to-date programme at conftool.org/uaces2019 or via the app.

115: Meet and Greet: Academic Speed-Mentoring (non-traditional panel)

Audience Room

The Graduate Forum invites academics at all levels to join us for this ‘meet and greet’ session. The purpose of the session is to give PhD and ECR researchers the opportunity to meet and chat with established scholars across European Studies research fields in an informal and relaxed setting. PhD/ECR participants will sit for 5 minutes at a time with each academic before circulating. We will have some conversation prompts available at the stations but come prepared with questions and answers about the research process, publishing, the job market, collaboration, impact or general academic life. We then encourage sidebar discussions with those in related fields which can be further pursued during the lunch breaks and receptions.

116: EU Global Strategy, EU Common Security and Defence Policy, CSDP and Brexit

405: Research Career Management: How to Map Transferable Research Skills (non-traditional panel)

Room 12.04

Convenor: Dorina Baltag

This session aims at engaging early-career researchers in practical activities that will help them identify their transferable research skills in order to increase their competitiveness on the post-doctoral labour market. For researchers at the beginning of their careers it is difficult to make plans about their post-PhD working life due to a lack of certainty in the academic job market. Given the commitment and dedication to (mainly) research and teaching, it becomes challenging to understand and identify how you can become relevant for a job market that is in high demand for hard skills. Through a series of skillfully designed exercises on entrepreneurial thinking, this panel will show its participants how to use their talents and experience to identify opportunities in the job marketplace (within but also outside academia) and understand how and when to capitalize on them. The main outcome for every participant in the non-traditional panel will be his/her own personalized map of transferable research skills and the opportunity to exchange ideas about this challenge affecting early-career researchers.

903: Europeanisation and De-Europeanisation of Central and Eastern European Member States - What Impact for European Foreign Policy Cooperation

Room 12.04
Participants: Ben Tonra, Karolina Pomorska, Tomas Weiss, Heidi Maurer
This roundtable is going to discuss the current political climate in Central and Eastern European member states and its impact on European foreign policy cooperation. It brings together four experts who will share their insights about Poland (Pomorska), the Czech Republic (Weiss), Slovakia (Batora) and Austria (Maurer). The aim of the roundtable is to provide a first platform of exchange for future research, and to also connect with interested colleagues of how a possible project in this area can be taken forward and hopefully also extended by more case studies.
